Fr. North to lecture on Dead Sea community

FR. ROBERT NORTH, S.J.

Fr. Kaiser has text published

Fr. Edwin G. Kaiser, professor of religion, recently had his work entitled "Theology of the Resurrection of Christ" published in the proceedings of the 12th annual Convention of the Catholic Theological Society of America.

Fr. Kaiser believes that theology is a vital subject which should not be considered a dead discipline. His recent work is an example of his belief that no subject in theology is ever completely closed to further investigation.

Fr. Kaiser has taught Religion and theology at St. Joseph's since 1944.

Peter Palmer to entertain in Island Paradise at Tower Dance

By MIKE DOYLE

... Bali Ha'i will whisper, on a wind of the sea: Here am I your own special island, come to me, come to me... Yes, the men of St. Joseph's and their dates are invited to dance and romance in islandic bliss as cool breezes and soft music engulf them, for Island Paradise is the theme of this year's tower dance.

A large smoldering volcano will greet the couples, and the secluded atoll will be entered by way of a labyrinth of caverns and caves.

Peter Palmer's band, which played at last year's prom, has, because of the praise given it last year, once again been engaged to provide the music.

The tickets for the dance will go on sale next Wednesday, Nov. 2, for juniors; Thursday, Nov. 3, for sophomores; and Friday, Nov. 4, for freshmen. They will be sold at the noon and evening meals. The cost will be $7.50 per couple and will include both bids and favors.

Fr. Robert North, S.J., will present the first lecture of the year entitled "Clues The Dead Sea Community Left Behind," on Thursday, Nov. 3, at 7:25 p.m. in Merlini Lounge.

The lecture will answer many questions concerning the religious organization of a pre-Christian community that the Dead Sea Scrolls have raised. Were the men of this community celibate? Were they Essenes? Did they practice monastic poverty? Did they have sacrifices and ritual banquets? Were they before or after John the Baptist? By means of the stones and other objects excavated at Qumran, of which views will be shown on a slide projector by Fr. North, these questions will be answered.

Fr. North received his M.A. at St. Louis University in 1939, was ordained at St. Mary's, Kansas in June, 1944, and was given his S.S.D. degree (doctor of Sacred Scripture) in Rome in 1951.

Fr. North was the Director of the Jerusalem Pontifical Biblical Institute from 1956 to 1959. He assisted in excavations of Byblos (1952), Jericho (1952-53), Dibon (1953), Bogazkoy (1955), Warka (1956); he directed excavation of Ghassul (East Jordan) in 1956. He is the author of "Guide to Biblical Iran" (Rome, 1956) and various reports on Qumran and other archeological sites, in Biblica, Catholic Biblical Quarterly, Palestine Exploration Quarterly, Orientalia, and others.

Homecoming to feature Jimmy Featherstone

By RON HOSTETLER

The St. Joseph's-Ball State football game will highlight the annual Homecoming weekend followed by an alumni reception in Raleigh hall and the annual Homecoming Dance.

Immediately following the game, the seniors and alumni will attend a cocktail party in Raleigh hall, featuring the music of "The Brian Hardy Trio".

The Homecoming Dance, beginning at 9:00 p.m., will feature "The Jim Featherstone Orchestra." Jim was a member of the famous "Kassels in the Air" orchestra of band leader Art Kassel. His style has been patterned after that of Art Kassel, with a touch of the Lombardo manner.

Jim Featherstone and his orchestra have waxed four fine disks—"The Yo-Yo Song," "It Took a Dream to Wake Me Up," "Heaven's Got a Freckled Nose," and "Lock it Up." They have also made many outstanding engagements such as: The Aragon Ballroom in Chicago; The Indiana Roof Ballroom in Indianapolis; and the Vincent Lopez Show in New York.

"The Brian Hardy Trio," featuring Brian Hardy (piano), Warren Brown (bass), and Mike Brown (drums) originally started in Layette, Ind. as a Purdue residence hall dance band, and grew to such popularity after becoming finalists in Notre Dame's National Collegiate Jazz Festival, that they have now played in most major jazz "spots" within Indiana.

Articles concerning the Brian Hardy Trio have appeared in Down Beat Magazine, The National Musician's Magazine, the Jazz Review, and many local newspapers and magazines throughout both Indiana and Illinois.

The Trio, which has just started their fall season of 1960, has a number of important engagements for the month of October including major jazz contests in this area, and are now in the process of planning a spring concert tour of major Indiana colleges and universities.

Expect to begin construction on new center next summer

By JOHN BABIONE

A new student activity center will be erected on the St. Joseph's college campus in the near future as a result of action taken recently in Washington D.C.

The Housing and Home Finance Agency has allocated a $1,500,000 loan for the center, which will be designed to provide a centralized location for activities now scattered all over campus.

Congressman Charles A. Halleck of Rensselaer, longtime representative from Indiana's second district and Republican minority leader in the House of Representatives, made the announcement of the loan. Halleck is a member of the college's board of lay trustees.

The new structure, to be named Halleck House in honor of the congressman, will be erected in the circle between Bennett and Noll halls. It will cover at least 50,000 square feet of floor space. The present Rec hall is about 5,000 square feet. In addition, the building will probably be fully air-conditioned.

Preliminary drawings for the center, being done by Frank Fisher and Associates, architects, must be submitted in about 90 days. Tentative plans call for the inclusion of a student cafeteria, Student Council offices, student publications offices, Alumni office, book store, and the Dean of Men's office. Also included will be all the services now provided by the Rec hall: multi-purpose room, snack bar, TV room, general lounge area, and recreation and games area.

A condition of the loan requires that there be no swimming pool, auditorium, or classrooms in the new building.

According to Fr. William Eilerman, college treasurer, construction of the building will require approximately 20 months once ground is broken. It is hoped that construction may begin sometime next summer.

The new building will release the Rec hall, a remodeled barracks building which has served as student center for the past 13 years, for other use. Space in the Administration and Publications buildings will also be freed, and the present cafeteria will be used only by the members of the Society of the Precious Blood.

The new activity center for the students is in keeping with the college's recent expansion plan which has more than doubled enrollment in the past decade. Enrollment now stands at over 1100, a new record.

The entire project is subject to the approval of the American Province of the Society of the Precious Blood.

Vocalist Chris Connor and trio booked to perform at campus Jazz Concert, Nov. 8

Chris Connor, the jazz vocalist, and her trio of instrumentalists will entertain at the second annual St. Joseph Jazz Concert sponsored by the Student Council. The concert will be on Tuesday, Nov. 8. There will be two shows. The first will begin at 7:00 p.m. and the second at 8:30 p.m.

Miss Connor, a native Midwesterner, is a nationally famous jazz singer with a style akin to that of Sarah Vaughn and June Christy. She has had nation wide exposure on television and records, and she also appeared at many famous night clubs throughout the country. Jazz festivals, stage and college concerts have added to her success.

Miss Connor's style appeals to both jazzophiles and to the "pop" music crowd.

The NFCCS-too few get too little for too much money

Once again, the students of St. Joseph's are faced with the question of whether or not they want St. Joe to be a member of the National Federation of Catholic College Students.

The student body voted to join the organization last year, in spite of the fact that only a handful of students really knew what the NFCCS was or did. This year, the Student Council will conduct another poll to determine whether St. Joe will remain in the national organization.

It is STUFF's opinion that the students of St. Joe do not sufficiently benefit directly from the organization to justify the high cost of belonging to the NFCCS. If we were to join again this year, the bill would be approximately $1100. We still owe our dues for last year—about $550, and we would be assessed about the same amount for this year's dues.

The money would come from the Student Council treasury which is not exactly overflowing at this time. This is too much money to invest in an organization that actually does so little for the students on campus.

What is the NFCCS? Well, it is sometimes defined as "the official national organization within which Catholic college students establish their identity as a particular segment of the American college population." It is supposedly a channel for Catholic Action on the college campus and is supposed to benefit "all" students on the campus.

But does it?

An elaborate program of NFCCS sponsored activities was planned for St. Joe last year. But it simply never came off.

The campus NFCCS was supposed to set up a Family Life Institute consisting of a series of talks by people in various walks of life on the problems of married life.

The campus NFCCS was supposed to conduct a program of speakers and a discussion on the effects of Communism today with speakers being brought in from outside.

The campus NFCCS was supposed to lend a "helping hand" to many of the campus clubs and organizations.

These are only a few of the activities that had been planned for the campus NFCCS. None of them were ever accomplished.

It is a question of whether we can afford to belong to an organization which merely "identifies" us and which actually does so little for the campus. A few students do benefit: the campus officers get to attend a national NFCCS convention at the expense of the organization. This is just about the only direct benefit that any student reaps from the NFCCS.

The NFCCS is simply too expensive for the work it does here at St. Joe.

Off the Cuff

The Pumasville climate has changed and winter is on the way. Those nice fall days that you saw a few weeks ago will soon be gone altogether, and the snow and wind will soon be here. For the benefit of you freshmen who haven't yet seen a Collegeville winter, prepare yourself for a blast. Those winds blow all way from the Rockies and stop right here in Rensselaer. Just wait until you get up in the morning and see the ice rolling over the radiator in your room. Of course if you're lucky like Bob Gierat you can take your Teddy Bear to bed to help keep you warm.

One of Bob's townie buddies, George Wrobel, is still getting his comic books in the mail. He gets them every day, as regular as clockwork, from some undisclosed source in Chicago.

Rudy Volz has reported that his hat is missing. But we are sure that he lost it; surely no rational person would want to steal it. It is described as a sort of iridescent green plaid (evidently a Falvey special) and anyone finding such an object is asked to return it to Rudy as soon as possible. He wants to have it dyed another color for Homecoming.

Speaking of Homecoming, George Connelly should be very impressive this week. George has a new system to get himself started in the morning, thereby giving him more energy for the games. His alarm clock doesn't ring in the mornings anymore, but instead a little ballerina dances around in a circle while a musicbox plays "O What a Beautiful Morning."

Dancing is getting to be very popular with the Pumas this year. At the last mixer even Dave Cook and Karen Girardot were among those on the dance floor, but of course these two couldn't dance very long and had to sit one out every now and then to catch their breath. Karen and Dave just aren't as young as they used to be.

Well H. C. H. has done it again. Seven in a row. And the latest which took place the day of the Valpo game shook Harry up so much that he put his jersey on backwards.

Word has just been received that the talent show for this year will feature that great humorist whose jovial manner has brought happiness to the hearts of many Pumas, Gerry (Smiles) Brudenell.

And as smiles go, did anyone notice who actually contorted his face enough to smile at the Valpo game? Right, Jim Madden. Of course there may be other reasons for this change in Jim. It is reported that he has suddenly become very interested in redheads. Would this have anything to do with it, Jim?

I would at this time like to express my sympathy to the senior class who recently lost one of their members in a gang war in Chicago. Gerry was a good friend of all of us and we will certainly miss him.

A letter has been received by the Student Council asking for help. It was sent by the wife of one of our married students, and is a plea for help to get her husband out of Kannes. I hope someone will take his copy of Stuff in to Joe this week and possibly his wife's pleading words will induce him to go home.

Well, that's all the rot for this week, but I would like to leave you thinking about the words of that famous American poet, Richard Blackmore, "What is he, some sort of a nut?"

Foreign policy marked by inconsistency-Young Democrats

Since 1952, the world has seen Viet-Nam conform to the Communist orbit. Indonesia is in the grips of a man who definitely favors the Communistic approach. Laos is in the throws of a Communist takeover, and Cuba, only 90 miles from the United States mainland, has become a base of anti-American propaganda for the International Communist Movement. All this has been happening while the Eisenhower administration has been "standing firm." A much better description, would be "standing still."

John F. Dulles and Christian Herter, with their policy of "Brinkmanship" (or too little, too late) has resulted in an impossible confusion of American principle with the necessities of expediency, and the result has been a loss of respect for America, not only among the peoples of the neutral nations of the world, but also in the eyes of our strongest allies.

The logic that can so distort the facts to say that American prestige is "at a new high," is at best, illogical and unrealistic. Rioting in Japan forced President Eisenhower to cancel his trip there. Anti-American demonstrations in Argentina, Bolivia, Venezuela, Peru, Columbia, Cuba, Panama, Guam, the Philippines, France, Italy, England, and even Canada, in the last eight years is unprecedented in American history, and shows the world's opinion of Republican foreign policy.

A Gallop poll recently taken in the free countries of the world, asked the question, "Do you think that the United States or Russia will be the world leader in 1970?" Only in Turkey did the majority of people feel that the United States would still be ahead of Russia in 1970. All the other nations of the world feel that Russia will be ahead of the United States by 1970.

This is the result of eight years of indecision in Washington. This is the result of eight years of inconsistent foreign policy, that finds the United States in support of "Colonialism" and the sole support of dictators like Peron, Trujillo, and Batista. Is it any wonder that when the people of these countries finally do gain their independence, they are suspicious of the United States. Can they afford to act in any other way to the power that supports dictators like these?

The above, and much more, is all the result of inadequate leadership in Washington. The dirth of original thinking and bold enterprise resulted in the very inept handling of the U-2 incident, giving Khrushchev his chance to destory the summit conference. Republican diplomacy has failed to solve the issues of the cold war, has failed to build respect for America, and ultimately, what is most important, it has failed to convince the newly emerging nations of Asia and Africa, that America offers them their only chance for freedom and self determination.

The Eisenhower Administration was extremely slow to realize the need for a stronger missile program. This is witnessed by the fact that Werner Von Braun and a group of scientists were forced to go over the non-hearing head of the "veto-president" directly to the American people, with their show of needs for more money in the field of missile research and development. Only after the Russians had showed the world their supremacy, did the Eisenhower Administration act to give the missile program its proponents demanded.

American economy, termed "stable" by the Republicans, has the slowest rate of growth of any of the great industrial powers of the world. Backward, inefficient, and unrealistic economic and fiscal policies have led to depressions in 1953, 1954, and 1958, and the Wall Street Journal tells us that the country is in the grips of still another depression, the fourth of the Eisenhower Administration.

This is the Republican record: they have failed the country, and they have failed the world. It is the Republican policies that have failed, and yet, Mr. Nixon insists on continuing these same policies. The only divergence he has taken is in the area of Farm policy and on the Quemoy-Matsu incident, and here his position is virtually indefensible.

Sen. Kennedy has bared the Republican myth of peace and prosperity. He has shown his dynamic leadership. While Vice-President wallows in the morass of generalities, and plays on the heartstrings of the romanticists, Sen. Kennedy has repeatedly shown how Republican policy has resulted in a gradual loss of freedom in many lands, a peace strained to the breaking point, and a prosperity that fails to consider the minority.

Vying for the position of secretary, Lona Murzyn bested Margaret Frechette.

The monetary chores of the treasurer went to Sharron Keilman who was victor over Tom Sertich and Liz Szelestey.

A new club is under consideration at the present—the St. Joseph's Future Teachers Club. To establish itself firmly, the club desires at least 20 members. Anyone who has ambitions of someday entering the teaching profession, whether it be on the elementary, high school, or college level is encouraged to join.

The program contemplated should prove quite interesting and beneficial. Listening to and conferring with experienced teachers and field trips to area classrooms for the purpose of gaining first hand knowledge are but a few of the planned activities.

Pumas employ two platoons; rugged attack beat hosts 21-14

By HUGH MARTINELLI

The fired-up St. Joe Pumas, sporting a two platoon system, defeated the Valparaiso Crusaders, 21-14, last Saturday, to give the Pumas a 2-1-1 ICC record. The Pumas defensive unit stopped a Crusader march late in the fourth quarter, for what would have been the tying TD, thus avenging last years 16-3 loss. Hard nosed tackling was the order of the day as players from both sides were shaken-up throughout the afternoon.

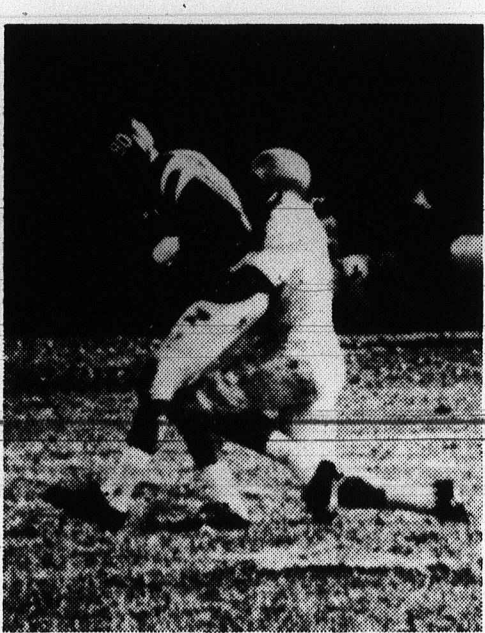

Puma quarterback Ralph Gardner's spectacular passing to rugged end Jim Madden harassed the Valpo secondary. Madden caught six passes for a total of 155 yards, two of them for touchdowns as he outran and outfought the Crusader linebackers. Gardner had his best day through the air lanes as he completed nine of 13 passes attempted.

Late in the first quarter the Pumas started to growl as they rolled from their own 48 to the Valpo 38 yard line. At this point Gardner threw to Madden in the end zone for the touchdown. Dave Beran booted the extra point to give St. Joe a 7-0 lead.

Valpo received the kickoff and immediately marched to the Puma 20 yard line, where Crusader quarterback Noel Schlegelmilch hit end Dick Puffpaff with a 20 yard aerial for the TD. Jim Hensel added the extra point tying the score at 7-7, in the opening minutes of the second quarter.

A tremendous punt by sophomore halfback Dennis Houlihan was fumbled on the Crusader 15, and rolled to the Valpo one yard line where a Puma recovered. Capitalizing on this break Puma George Connelly lunged into the end zone for the score. Beran's second conversion of the day gave the Pumas a 14-7 half-time lead. Houlihan's punt which set up the play traveled about 50 yards in the air.

In the third quarter the Pumas began to roll again. This time they marched 68 yards for the score. The drive was capped as Gardner, on the Valpo 38 yard line, again found Madden in the end zone with his pass for the touchdown. Madden had out-maneuvered the Valpo defender and was wide open as he hauled in Gardner's pass. Beran kicked his third extra-point of the game to give the Pumas a 21-7 advantage, which they never surrendered.

Jim Madden grabs 38 yard pass from Ralph Gardner for Puma touchdown.

Valpo came fighting back as they started on their own 27 yard line and completed six straight passes to put them on the Puma 14 yard line. Valpo fullback Tom Jensen then churned the last 14 yards for the touchdown. Hensel booted the conversion to make the final score 21-14.

The Pumas came right back as they marched up to the Valpo two yard line where they had to give up the ball on downs. The Crusaders tried to rally but Connelly intercepted a Schlegelmilch pass on the Puma 35 to stop the threat.

Puma groundgainers were led by fullback Houlihan who had 64 total yards for a 4.92 average per carry. Connelly and Lackomecki followed with 27 and 26 yards respectively.

St. Joe frosh lose Bulter tilt

Butler's Baby Bulldogs edged the St. Joe freshman Pumas, 14-12, in a tight contest at Indianapolis last Monday. The Puma frosh outplayed Butler all the way, but were hurt badly by a few bad breaks.

Butler took the opening kickoff and scored on their first series of plays. They ran for the two point conversion, taking an early 8-0 lead. But the Pumas came right back and scored on a 30 yard pass from Tom Yingst to John George. However, an attempted pass for the conversion was no good.

Shortly before the half, the junior Pumas were forced to punt from inside their own 20 yard line. The snap from center was bad and the baby Bulldogs took over on the St. Joe eight yard line, from where they made the score 14-6. The St. Joe defense stopped the Bulldogs' attempted

Eager Ball Staters bring 2-4 record into big game Saturday

By JOHN BABIONE

This Saturday being Homecoming, the old grads will be flocking back to their old Alma Mater, eager to witness a Puma Victory. But, Coach Jim Freeman's Ball State Cardinals will also be on hand, determined to disappoint the old Pumas by knocking off the 1960 Pumas.

The Cardinals, though their record is only 2-4 overall and 1-3 in the ICC, are not to be taken lightly. They have beaten Eastern Illinois (14-6), and DePauw (24-20), and have lost to Illinois State (7-3), Valpo (10-8), Evansville (10-7), and Butler (27-0).

Thus, the Cardinals have been badly beaten only once, and have lost three games by a combined total of only nine points. Only a field-goal saved league-leading Evansville from defeat at the hands of the Cards.

Coach Freeman, in his fifth year at Ball State, led last year's injury ridden squad to a 1-7 record, 1-5 in the ICC. He lost 11 lettermen from that squad and counted 15 returning this year—10 linemen and five backs. These, plus nine lettermen from the freshman squad and three junior college graduates form the nucleus of this year's Cardinal squad.

Through the years, St. Joe has won seven grid games from Ball State, lost five, and tied three. Last year at Muncie the Pumas triumphed 22-8.

Saturday the Pumas put their 2-3-1 record, and their chance for the ICC crown on the line against the Ball State Cardinals. The old grads will be here cheering them on, and the game will be hard-fought. But if the Pumas fight harder it will be a happy Homecoming day.

Varsity views

By BOB ROSPENDA

The score was 21-14, time ran out, and the Crusaders did not get to ring their precious victory bell. Silence was never sweeter.

... somewhere there is laughing,
somewhere children shout,
but, there was no joy in Valpo
the mighty Crusaders had struck out.

The trip back to Pumaville was a short one.

Coach Joe Iofredo, using two formidable platoons throughout the game, was able to keep his men fresh, thus presenting a more efficient machine on the field.

Gardner called another excellent game. Saturday he proved himself to be one of the best quarterbacks in the conference. His passing was excellent, with his arm being the deciding factor in the game. The passing combination of Gardner to Jim Madden was not to be denied as the duet got together for three electrifying plays, two of them going 38 yards each for touchdowns.

Houlihan also showed he knows what to do with the ball as he picked up good yardage running and got a good foot into a couple of punts.

This win gives the Pumas a 2-1-1 record in ICC play. If it wasn't for the disappointing loss to Indiana State, St. Joe would still be in contention for the ICC crown. The Pumas still have a mathematical chance, but it would be betting against the odds to say they have a good chance.

Look at it this way. Evansville is still unbeaten in conference play, while Butler has only a single loss to their discredit. Even if Butler were to beat Evansville in their upcoming game, and the Pumas would do likewise, it would put the Butler Bulldogs on top since they figure to win their last other ICC game against DePauw. If on the other hand Evansville were to beat Butler and we should beat Evansville, the Aces would still be on top by at least a half game even though the Bulldogs would be out of the picture.

The ideal situation would be for Evansville and Butler to tie and then for the Pumas to beat Evansville. Providing the Big Red beats Ball State this would then see Evansville, Butler and St. Joe's finishing in a three way tie for first place.

As you can readily see, the odds aren't too favorable in the hopes of this happening. However, as the old saying goes, "Football is football and anything can happen, and usually does." (Shades of Jack Brickhouse.) We shall see what we shall see.

The Pumas marched down the field with the second half kickoff on passes from Tom Anderson to Terrell Isselhard. The score came on an eight yard pass from Anderson to Isselhard. An attempt to pass for the extra points was again stopped, making the score 14-12.

Another bad pass from center deep in their own territory put the Puma yearlings in trouble again later in the second half. But this time the St. Joe defense stopped Butler around the Puma 25.

Scharf House Gang beats Gallagher Webfoots 27-0, to break first place IM football tie

By DAN ZAWILA

Undeclared Scharf House Gang racked the Gallagher Webfoots 27-0 last Monday afternoon, in the Intramural football battle for first place in the Upper-class league. Approximately 150 IM fans watched as the Scharf Gang successfully took to the air in the tie breaking game.

The passing of quarterback and co-captain Ken Gurzik to ends Bob Dombrowski and Al Zera was more than the Webfoot defensive platoon of Ed O'Hara, Joe Vlasaty, Mike Smith, Greg Klatski, Ken Kubicki, Frank Pandola and Ed Ruback could handle.

Then too, fine offensive pass blocking by the Scharf Gang line of Bob Becofski, Tom Moloney and Tom Keane added greatly to the effectiveness of the air attack.

The Webfoots on the other hand had an offensive standout in tackle Tom Webster, who did more than his share of blocking and pass receiving. And even though the Webfoots had seven first downs as opposed to six for the Scharf Gang, they couldn't get started offensively, losing the ball on three interceptions and one fumble.

The Scharf Gang opened the scoring with a 20 yard pass from Gurzik to Bellucci for the touchdown in the first quarter. The try for extra point failed and the score at the end of the quarter stood, 6-0.

In the second quarter, Gurzik took advantage of Larimer's interception to set up the second Scharf Gang score, Gurzik to Egan for 43 yards and the second Scharf score.

However, the Scharf Gang wasn't through yet, for a few minutes later, Gurzik intercepted another Webfoot pass by quarterback Tony Pacenti. This set up the Scharf Gang's third score, Gurzik to Zera for the touchdown. The extra point was also good, Gurzik passing to Zera. Thus at the end of the first half, the score stood 20-0 in favor of the Scharf Gang.

In the third quarter, the Webfoots mustered a drive which took them to the Scharf 13 yard line, but the defensive play of Scharf Gang forced the Webfoots back to the Scharf 15 yard line where they lost the ball on downs.

The Scharf Gang scored again in the fourth quarter on a 45 yard pass play, Gurzik to Dombrowski for the TD. The extra point was good, Gurzik to Zera.

The Webfoots challenged again late in the fourth quarter, when Greg Klatski intercepted one of Gurzik's passes. A pass by Webfoot quarterback Pacenti to end Rick Seitz was good for 27 yards and put the Webfoots back in Scharf territory. But a penalty once again forced the Gallagher team back and they lost the ball on downs.

The Scharf Gang defensive platoon consists of Frank Bellucci, Tom Keane, Bob Gurzik, Don Moll, Rich Larimer, Marty Shannon, and Jim Egan.

The Webfoots offensive team is composed of Tony Pacenti, John Navigato, Rich Seitz, Ron Boguski, Tom Webster, Kubicki and Matt Gembala.

Bill Elliott of Xavier, Don Gimble of Noll, and Tom Ryan of Halas in that order. Czopek's official time for the two-mile-plus course was 11:39.7.

Frank Czopek wins IM race

Frank Czopek of Gaspar hall finished first in the intramural all-campus cross-country race on Friday, Oct. 21, in a course that extended more than two miles. The last mile of the course saw the four leaders of the field of 12 runners closely huddled in a pack, but with 150 yards to go, Czopek broke away in a surprising last burst of speed and won handily by 30 yards.

Finishing second was Mike Smith of Gallagher; Will Mowery of Xavier came in third; and Ed Flaisher of East Seifert was fourth. Following Flaisher were Note: When an "avalanche slope" is in delicate balance, the slightest vibration in the air, such as Bob's shout, will cause it to let go.
